

STUDENT DESIGN SHOW CULMINATES WITH AWARDS RECEPTION APRIL 2

Delgado's Interior Design Department hosted its Student Design Show and Design Scholarship Competition in partnership with the Architectural/Design Construction Technology Department March 26 – April 6, 2009, in the Isaac Delgado Fine Arts Gallery, culminating with a Closing Reception on Thursday, April 2.

At the reception, the Delgado Design Association announced the Scholarship Competition winners and the Architecture/Design Construction Technology Department announced the winners of a construction scholarship.

The Interior Design student competition judges were Marilyn Young and Michelle Verdigets, both Delgado Interior Design alumni and licensed interior designers.

Interior Design awards were presented as follows: first place to Monique Landache, second place to Julie Ricca, and third place (tie) to Renea Duck and Melissa Arnold.

Delgado Architecture alumni Peter Young of Greater New Orleans Home Builders Association and Mai Tran of Eric Lowe Architects served as judges for the Architecture student competition and presented the following scholarship awards: First place to Heinz Ordonez, Architecture Design for a Suburban Restaurant Project; second place to Jay A.E. Jacquet, Contemporary Residential Green Building House Design; and third place to Marion Molyneaux, A Photo Collage Poster of New Orleans Fountains.

In addition to refreshments, student design work display, and announcement of awards, reception attendees enjoyed a silent auction that raised $329 for Delgado Design Association activities and future scholarship awards.

The Interior Design program is under the director of Erin Sanders, and the Architecture/Design Construction Technology program is under the direction of P. Victor Mirzai.
